Tax Insurance

Tax insurance is a sophisticated risk management tool that protects a taxpayer's position from a challenge by a taxing authority. The insurance indemnifies the insured for any additional taxes, interest, penalties, and claim expenses incurred in defense of the tax position, and the amount by which the insured's taxes are increased as a result of the receipt of insurance proceeds (known as gross-up). Effectively, tax insurance makes the insured whole in the event of a loss or challenge to a tax position.

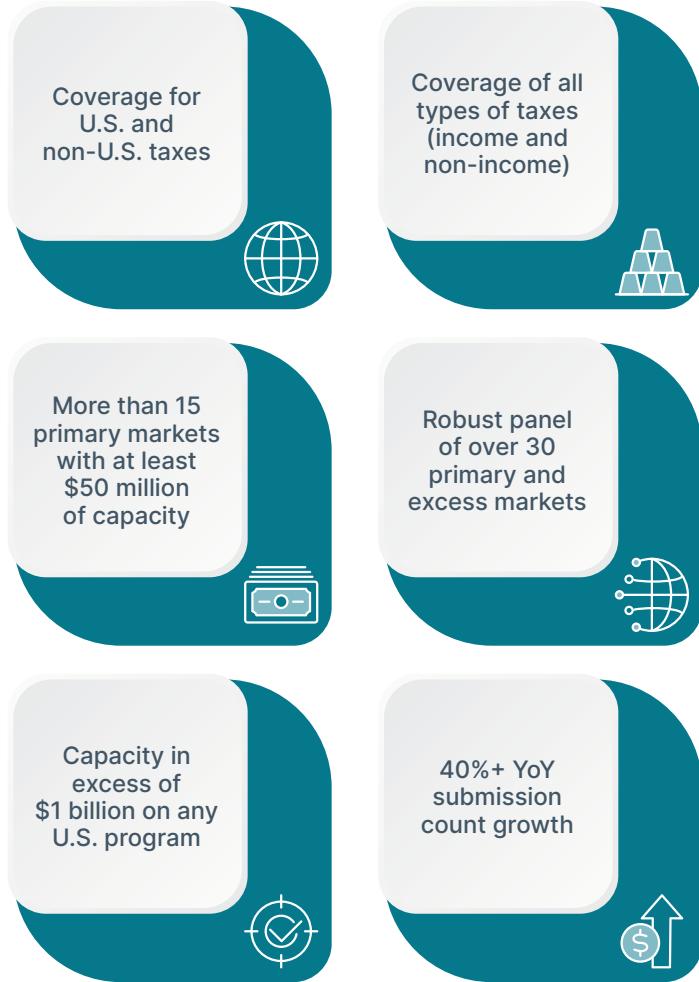

First emerging in the 1980s, tax insurance was historically used to support mergers and acquisitions ("M&A") by shifting known tax risks from the deal parties to the insurance market. Today, while it continues to play a critical role in M&A, insurers' risk appetites have broadened — enabling tax insurance to address a wider range of exposures in increasingly creative and flexible ways.

Tax insurance is now a widely used and common tool in day-to-day business operations and corporate restructurings. For tax directors evaluating positions with uncertain outcomes or unfavorable risk-reward dynamics, tax insurance protects both the tax position and the company's balance sheet in the event of a challenge by a taxing authority.

Recent growth in the market has been fueled by strong demand stemming from renewable energy tax credit transactions. Tax credit transfers have introduced the product to new participants, particularly credit buyers who may not have previously considered tax insurance. Many of these purchasers are now expanding their use of the product, incorporating tax insurance into broader tax planning strategies.

Market Update

Advantages of Tax Insurance

Tax insurance offers a range of benefits for organizations pursuing certainty in M&A transactions, day-to-day business decisions, and tax credit monetization.

Key advantages include:

Balance sheet protection

Including management of ASC-740 reserves

Faster certainty

Compared to traditional taxing authority procedures such as PLRs or APAs

Capital efficiency

Leveraging insurer A-rated paper

Transaction facilitation

Supporting deals driven by tax considerations or broader strategic objectives

Risk reduction

Managing loss exposure of certain annually filed positions

Enhanced stakeholder confidence

Providing an added layer of assurance that enables more informed, less conservative decision making

Examples of Insurable Tax Risks

Accounting methodology	Cancellation of Debt Income	Capital gains/ordinary income tax treatment	Capitalization vs Deduction	Debt/Equity treatment	Deferred compensation, 409A, 280G
Foreign Investment in Real Property Tax Act (FIRPTA)	Foreign tax credits	Independent contractor versus employee	Net operating losses (NOLs)/382 limitations	Nexus, residency, and permanent establishment	Partnership tax issues
QSBS	Real estate investment trusts (REITs)	Reorganizations, recapitalizations and/or spin-offs	S-Corp status	Sales/use tax	Subpart-F income
Tax credits (ITC, PTC, R&D, HTC, LIHTC)	Tax treaty qualification	Transfer pricing, APA process	Valuations and tax basis	Withholding tax	Worthless stock deductions

Why CAC Specialty

CAC has the leading advisory and tax insurance brokerage team in the United States. Our tax practice helps clients deploy tax insurance to facilitate tax planning, close M&A transactions, execute restructurings, and optimize balance sheets. We do this by structuring coverage to mitigate known tax risks, with a focus on enhancing internal rates of return and managing cash flow.

What sets CAC apart is our holistic approach. We look beyond the tax risk itself to understand how insurance supports the broader transaction, tax, and business strategy. This perspective enables us to deliver solutions that align with clients' long-term objectives — not just the immediate risk transfer.

Our proactive mindset has made CAC a pioneer in expanding the use of tax insurance. Whether the position arises in a third-party transaction or as part of ongoing business tax planning, CAC leverages deep technical expertise and strong underwriter relationships to deliver certainty, unlock value, and drive successful outcomes.

Thought leaders in the renewable energy sector.

CAC was named 2023 Retail Broker of the Year.

Navigating tax risk requires both thoughtful strategy and disciplined execution. CAC specializes in analyzing exposures and implementing bespoke mitigation options — including evaluating whether tax insurance is the right fit. As part of our commitment to delivering best-in-class outcomes, we secure competitive terms from the tax insurance market at no cost to clients.

As a specialty broker, CAC's model is built on execution, service, and accountability. Our industry-leading success in placing tax insurance stems from a meticulous approach at every stage of the process: drafting detailed submissions, anticipating underwriter requests, negotiating critical policy terms, and managing each step of the placement and claims process.

Working hand-in-hand with clients and their advisors, CAC ensures underwriting is confirmatory, not exploratory. This approach allows for a smoother process, greater certainty, and seamless execution.

Over the past four years, CAC has placed more than $15 billion in limits, advising clients on incorporating tax insurance into their risk management strategies, from Fortune 10 Companies to high-net-worth individuals.

CAC is a market leader in tax credit insurance, having placed over 100 policies for tax equity and transferability transactions in 2024, and have more than doubled that in 2025.

Our clients value not only our technical expertise and execution but also our commitment to 24/7 availability.

As one client put it: "For issues that demand all-hands-on-deck attention, CAC delivers a level of responsiveness and partnership rarely seen outside of our industry."

CAC's Tax Insurance Placement Process

CAC's longstanding relationships with underwriters around the world allow us to create a competitive marketplace that consistently delivers favorable terms and pricing for our clients.

Beyond simply accessing capacity, we counsel clients on structuring coverage to ensure they are fully protected in the event of an audit. Appropriate limits are determined not only by the expected tax liability, but also by penalties, interest, contest costs, effective tax rate, and gross-up, all of which can be addressed under a single tax insurance policy.

HOW CAC WORKS FOR ITS CLIENTS

Pricing

Premiums are influenced by the type of risk, quality of supporting advisor work product, tax jurisdiction, limits purchased, and audit posture (if any). CAC collaborates with clients and their tax advisors to prepare strong submissions that generate competitive pricing and terms. For U.S. risks not under audit, premiums typically range from 2% to 4% of the insured limit.

Policy period

Tax insurance policies generally run for seven years — sufficient to cover the statute of limitations on the relevant tax return. Policies are written on a claims-made basis, meaning claims must be filed before the end of the policy period. After a claim is made, coverage remains in force until the dispute is resolved. Depending on the risk, some insurers may extend policy periods (up to 15 years) for an additional premium. CAC helps clients evaluate and secure extended coverage when appropriate.

Binding

Policies can typically bind within two to three weeks after engaging an underwriter, depending on the complexity of the transaction and risk profile. CAC's extensive experience in high-stakes deals enables us to deliver speed and precision in fast-paced transactional environments, ensuring timelines are met and transactions stay on track.

Claim advocacy

CAC's dedicated transactional liability claims team works seamlessly with our tax practice to support clients during the claims process. From the initial challenge by a tax authority through to final resolution and claim payment, we advocate on behalf of our clients to protect their interests and ensure obligations under the policy are clearly understood and efficiently managed.

"CAC has an incredible knowledge of the industry and has helped educate us on related topics."

"CAC has always been available to walk us through the proposals and discuss pros and cons and help us make an educated decision."

Frequently Asked Questions

Can any tax position be insured?

Generally, any tax position with a comfort level of at least “more likely than not” — and that is not an abusive transaction or tax shelter — can be insured. There is currently more than $1 billion of capacity for U.S. tax insurance placements. Coverage is also available in most other jurisdictions, although some may require stronger support from advisors.

What is covered under the policy?

Tax insurance is designed to restore the insured to its original financial position if a covered tax position is challenged by a taxing authority.

Coverage typically includes:

- Taxes, interest, and penalties
- Claim expenses incurred in defending the position (depending on the stage of audit)
- Any increase in tax liability resulting from the receipt of insurance proceeds (i.e., “gross-up”)

Is a tax opinion required?

No. While a formal tax opinion is helpful, underwriters typically proceed with due diligence reports or memoranda that set forth the tax analysis, provided the work product sufficiently supports the risk transfer.

What are the ratings of the participating insurance companies?

All tax insurance carriers are rated by A.M. Best or a similar agency (e.g., S&P, Moody’s, etc.), with most maintaining an A-rating or higher.

What are the typical policy exclusions?

Tax insurance policies generally exclude losses arising from:

- Inconsistent filing positions
- Material misrepresentations made by the insured
- Change in law (unless specifically identified as a covered tax position)

How much tax insurance has been purchased?

To date, tens of billions of dollars in tax insurance limits have been placed, spanning clients from small businesses to Fortune 100 companies.

Do I have to report the policy to the IRS?

No. Obtaining tax insurance coverage does not trigger any obligation to report the existence of the policy to the IRS.

If I get tax insurance, how does an audit work?

The insured has a duty to defend any challenge to the covered tax position, with the insurer maintaining reasonable participation rights. Importantly, the insured cannot settle an audit without the insurer’s consent — which cannot be unreasonably withheld, delayed, or conditioned.

Does tax insurance mitigate the need for an ASC-740 reserve?

Often, yes. If a policy is obtained before a position is reported on a return, it may eliminate the need for a reserve. In many cases, auditors have also removed reserves after a policy was placed. CAC regularly advises clients and their accountants on ASC-740 considerations and the role tax insurance can play.
